

I believe that it is very important for local broadcasters like Airl to be able to continue operating. Airl has had a huge impact on my life and the lives of many others in my community. It is nice to have a radio station that has a positive message to counteract all of the negativity that is sent over the air waves these days.